Registration No. 1930

Dog show organizers from left, Ian Brindle with "King" and Peter Morris with "Tipsey" are completing plans for their Mutt and Purebred show to be held Aug. 28.

Pedigreed or "mutt" - they're all welcome

If your dog has a pedigree as long as your arm -- or even if he's just kind of cute, lovable mutt -- he'll be welcomed at the Mutt and Purebred Show planned for Aug. 28 in St. Albert.

Organizers of the show, Peter Morris, 12, of 16 Sable Cres. and friends Ian Brindle and Geraldyn McHugh are all dog-lovers and members of a rather exclusive club known as the "Avengering Cats." To date there are only five members.

They've been planning the dog show for several months, Peter says, and now they're ready to roll.

The show will be held in parkland between Sable Cres. and Sunset Blvd. and dogs must be on the grounds at 1:15 p.m. Judging starts at 1:30 p.m. Two adults, Mrs. Vance and Mrs. Elkins have consented to act as judges.

Registration fee is 10 cents per entry in the conformation class (look of the dog) and 10 cents for entry in the obedience class. Peter reports that registration forms will be available at town hall and on the grounds prior to show time. Ribbons will be awarded and it's also hoped that there'll be trophies available.

Judging will take place in two categories -- purebred and mutt. There will be four sections in each category -- two to six months, six months to one year, one to two years and over two years.

There'll also be a grand champion chosen and owners with dogs who've been winners in other shows are encouraged to enter their dogs in competition with this show's champion.

In the event of rain, the show will probably be postponed one day, says Peter.

For further information on the dog show, contact either Peter Morris, 599-7185 or Ian Brindle, 599-3635.

Danie Cerman of 11612 - 135 Street, Edmonton, an employee of the St. Albert Post Office, received quite a shock last week when he dug up a carrot which appeared to be held by a three-fingered hand -- a dead finger for Mr. Cerman's own right hand which also has only three fingers. "It's kind of spooky," he said, pointing out the resemblance between the oddly shaped carrot and his hand on which he'd had a finger removed because of a severed tendon.

Sturgeon Hospital to take first patients Thursday

The Sturgeon General Hospital will be accepting emergency and maternity cases Thursday morning, Aug. 20.

In making this announcement on behalf of the board of trustees of the hospital, Public Affairs Chairman Richard S. Fowler stated that the board quite natually regretted the four-day delay in making hospital facilities available to residents of the district. The hospital was originally scheduled to begin accepting patients on Aug. 17.

The delay in opening was due to the fact that some surgical equipment and instruments, particularly for the emergency department and operating theatres were not available for delivery at an earlier date. The hospital was also awaiting delivery of an anaesthetic machine for the maternity department. This has since been installed.

It is expected that the hospital will become fully operative within the near future, Mr. Fowler stated, with elective surgery patients slated for admission within approximately 10 days.

J. Beedle big winner at flower show

St. Albert Parks Superintendent John Beedle entered the Edmonton Horticultural Society's annual flower show held at Sportex on Sunday and Monday and came away with an impressive list of wins. Not only did he win the Taylor Trophy for the best display of dahlias but also 15 other prize ribbons in the dahlia and tree fruits classes.

This is the first year that he's entered the show and he confesses he's quite surprised at his success. He entered 22 exhibits altogether.

Flowers are judged on quality, perfection, variety, difficulty of growth and freedom from blemishes and insect damage.

Mr. Beedle, who describes himself as "an amateur with some knowledge of gardening" lives on three acres of property at 5 Grandin Road. With 1 1/4 acres of grass to keep under control, he confesses that he doesn't have too much time left for gardening.

"I feel I have some kind of duty to my position as parks superintendent, to keep the lawn in good shape and to set a good example," he said, "but sometimes it gets out of hand."

Mr. Beedle's mother, who lives with him, is also an avid gardener.

Many of the varieties of fruit trees which Mr. Beedle is cultivating he has brought from Saskatchewan. He has 26 different varieties of apples -- but only ten are bearing fruit this year. It's not the same trees that produce every year, he says, depending on winter conditions. All the varieties seem reasonably hardy, he adds, and he attributes this to the bushy two sides of the property which helps to protect them.

Petitions protest Hutterite Colony

MORINVILLE: In an interview with Reeve Lawrence Kluthe of the MD of Sturgeon Monday morning, it was confirmed that petitions are being circulated in the Meerns-Alcomdale districts protesting the establishment of a Hutterite colony in the area. These petitions will be presented to the Communal Property Control Board prior to Sept. 14, 1970.

Following a legal notice in the Gazette last week a number of inquiries have been received about the proposed colony.

Graham Blacklock of St. Albert Hardware Store holds a toy pistol believed to be the type used in an attempted hold-up at the Bank of Montreal's St. Albert branch last Thursday.

Alarms foil hold-up try

A hold-up attempt at the St. Albert branch of the Bank of Montreal on Perron Street took place last Thursday morning, when a man brandishing a toy pistol walked into the bank and demanded money.

Three separate alarms were sounded by bank employees and RCMP were on the scene in a matter of moments and took a man into custody.

Earl Morgan Travers of no fixed address appeared in magistrate's court Thursday afternoon in connection with the incident and was remanded without plea for one week. He is being held in Fort Saskatchewan jail.

Bottle depot - a business that just grew

Bottle depot employee John James arranges empties on the conveyor belt for delivery to the truck. Returns have reached an all-time high in the last couple of months, he reports.

Nell Ross, long-time St. Albert resident and businessman and now proprietor of the St. Albert Depot, doesn't necessarily think that the town's thirst for beer has increased -- even though the depot now takes in over 15,000 dozen empty bottles a month instead of the 650 or 700 dozen that were returned in the first few months of operation, some five years ago.

"It's a matter of people learning that the depot is here," he said. "About 90 per cent of the people from St. Albert bring their bottles here now and we're getting more and more trade from the north part of the city. Bottles come from as far away as Wabasco, 50 miles north of Slave Lake. They bring in anywhere from 200 to 600 dozen at one trip."

A steady stream of cars pulls up to the door of the depot situated on St. Albert Trail and bottles are unloaded with the help of John James who's been at the depot for four years and with Ross Enterprises for many years before that.

"Ten - 12 - 14 dozen at 30 cents a dozen -- that's $4.20," says Mr. James, handing over the cash. Obviously, he knows his 30 times table rather well.

An enterprising six-year old lad, assisted by his mother and sister totes in several dozen empties and waits proudly to pick up his money from Mr. James. Before he gets his reward, he has to help figure out what's coming to him. When he leaves, he's happily clutching three dollars.

June of this year was a record-setting month for the depot with 15,070 dozen bottles taken in. July was a close second with 14,208 dozen.

"At Easter time," says Mr. Ross, "two kids from Onaway brought in 650 dozen bottles. They'd offer to clean out people's basements in return for the empties. They earned about $180, in two days."

"Some people bring in 10 or 12 dozen regularly every week," said Mr. James, "and people who go around gathering bottles in ditches and so on bring them here too." Cartons are assembled at the depot for loose bottles that are returned without cartons.

Empties are stacked near the truck which stands ready for loading inside the depot. A full load consists of 720 dozen -- and to make the work of holding them onto the truck a little easier, a farm bale loader has been adapted by local welder Len Adams to carry 48 cartons of empties at a time. An automatic stop-start mechanism gives the man standing on the truck time to life the carton and place it on the truck before the conveyor belt brings up the next case.

Bottles are trucked to the Alberta Brewers' Agents Ltd at 142 Street and 123 Avenue in Edmonton, on a freight and commission basis.

Active all his life in one business enterprise or another -- and these include farming, general trucking, a hauling contract with the American army of the Alaska Highway and work with Texaco Exploration -- Nell Ross hardly needed another business. But when he sold out his trucking business at a giant auction sale when 40 trucks and 60 trailers were sold, he was persuaded to take a crack at operating a bottle depot.

A large building used formerly as a garage and warehouse for his trucking business, offered plenty of space for the undertaking.

"I didn't want it because I could see nothing but headaches."

However, he did go ahead with it, partly as a means of keeping former long-time employees on staff until they reached retirement age. Since the second month of its operation, it has been a paying proposition, says Mr. Ross.

Harry Neesom, for many years farm manager of Ross's farm was the first custodian of the depot until March, 1967. When he retired, Mr. James took over as a full-time employee and Mr. Neesom only helps out occasionally now.

"It could be helped part-time when I started there,"

Regional swim finals to be held at U. of A.

Swimmers from St. Albert will be out in force to take part in this weekend's central Alberta regional swim finals scheduled for this Saturday and Sunday at the University of Alberta pool. Swim club members have been coached by Bernie Luttiner.

Times for the events are 7:30 to 1 p.m., and 5 to 10 p.m. Saturday with finals set for 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. Sunday.

President of the St. Albert Swim Club, Richard Fowler, estimates that there'll be approximately 400 swimmers taking part in the meet. The St. Albert club has attended swim meets in Hinton, Drayton Valley, Fort Saskatchewan, Vegreville, Devon, Derriack Club and Royal Glenora as well as the local meet and have come away winners in five of the eight meets.

Missing from the St. Albert contingent this weekend will be 8-year-old James Fowler who is suffering from a broken elbow.

Winners of the central regional finals will compete the following weekend in Calgary in the provincial finals for the north, central and southern regions of the province.

Drive-in wins at Mannville

St. Albert Drive-In with Tom Reed on the mound, defeated Innisfree 15-11 to capture 'B' event of the Town and Country division at the annual Mannville fastball tournament during the weekend.

Irma downed St. Albert 9-7 in the opening game to drop them into the B event against Birch Lake. St. Albert completely dominated this contest as they scored a 15-3 win that was halted after five innings.

Lloyd Gingrich had a home run and Dick Bird was the winning pitcher.

A binder behind a team of four horses set the scene for this harvest time picture taken in the Morinville area in 1912. At that time the binder was the newest of harvesting machinery. Behind it, a pair of farmhands gathered bundles of fresh-cut grain and stacked them in stacks as seen in the background. said Mr. Neesom, "but now it's a full-time job."

Third members of the staff is Toby, part Doberman Pinscher and an excellent watchdog, says Mr. Ross.

Alberta Brewers Agents Ltd. handle the movement of beer from breweries to liquor stores and hotels.

Ross Trucking has had the contract for hauling beer to St. Albert since 1940 -- but this is an entirely separate operation from the bottle depot, Mr. Ross points out. He recalls in the days when St. Albert had mixed drinking and the city didn't, "about three times as much beer was consumed here then."

Mr. Ross says that he doesn't take an active part in the operation of the bottle depot. "Sometimes I don't come over for a month at a time." He's referring to coming across St. Albert Trail from the Ross house built in 1937, long before the highway sliced through his property.

Right now, he's trying very hard to stay retired despite business interests which still keep him somewhat involved and on the move.

And as for the business that he didn't much want to get involved in in the first place -- it just seems to keep on growing as more and more people in the district discover the bottle depot.

the Gazette REFLECTS

A good question raised

Reeve-Lawrence Kluthe of M.D. Sturgeon has expressed a valid and eminently sensible point of view on the annexation of nine acres of M.D. land being requested by the City of Edmonton. "Before endorsing this annexation I would like to be convinced that the city has a real need of the property," said the reeve.

The city could profit from looking at the proposal from the same point of view. If property within the city limits is not available for residential development, then perhaps some drastic new methods are needed to make it available, before looking beyond the city boundaries. After the war the city wisely developed the property known as Hudson Bay Reserve for needed residential lots. The next move now may be to move the Industrial Airport outside city limits. This would free the land and eliminate what many Edmontonians consider a dangerous area, and a noise nuisance. While there have been no serious accidents at the site, why wait until there is one before making this move?

The time may now be upon us when we must rethink the whole question of land values, to allow for orderly development of cities. Have we reached the point where we can no longer afford land speculation profits on the scale we have been paying? We seem to have reached the point when many of our young marrieds haven't a hope of getting into a single family dwelling, and many apartments are also well beyond their reach in the years they are raising young children. Perhaps expropriation procedures, similar to those allowed for obtaining property for roads, will be necessary for cities to purchase land within their boundaries to house people.

Two other rethink approaches are needed. The natural resources of a country surely belong to all of its people. Therefore tax revenues derived from industrial development of those resources should be equalized throughout the provinces, and not retained by the municipalities in which they are located. And before cities are allowed to grow to ungovernable size, it would be well for all levels of government to do some hard thinking on how to diffuse job opportunities more evenly through more communities.

In this connection, we consider the federal government's recent offer of incentives to so-called job-creating firms in cities, a backward step. Who is so naive as to believe that any firm goes into business just to create jobs? Or that if they did so for this reason only, that they would be successful? Big business, capable of generating many jobs, is also quite capable of looking after itself, and paying its fair share of taxes. The taxpaying public should not be subsidizing such firms.

Little Things

That Add Up

One thing that can be said for the approaching end of summer is that it will no longer be necessary to use up the beat up rolls of toilet paper brought back from camping trips by teenagers.

Royal Shoe Store sold

New owners of Royal Shoes on St. Michael Street in St. Albert are Don and Pat Henderson who took over the business on Aug. 6.

Former owner Norm Shalagan and his wife Vicki sold the shop due to other business interests.

This is an entirely new undertaking for Mr. and Mrs. Henderson. Until recently, Mr. Henderson was an aircraft engineer with Waldir and Mrs. Henderson states that she's had "just a bit of experience in the shoe business." Both plan to take an active part in running the store.

Presently living in Edmonton, Mr. and Mrs. Henderson plan to move to St. Albert shortly if they can find a suitable apartment.

"We've just sold two houses," Mrs. Henderson said "and we don't want to buy another now, as we won't have time to keep it up. We'll be spending most of our time at the store."

Store hours will remain 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday and 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturdays.

LAC David Cooke and LAC Terry Lucas were chosen to spend four days at bush camp. They will receive certificates in recognition of this.

Also to receive a certificate for successfully completing the Junior NCO course is Cpl. David Hutchings.

Those attending camp at Penhold were: Sgt. Warren Eschak, Cpl. David Hutchings, LAC's Dennis Sanche, Terry Lucas, David Cook, Richard Lukay, Dale Brewster, Darrel Brewster, Fred Rapati, Kim Doring, Bob Bondarevich, Matt Lewis, Peter Heltin, Jim Hesselwood, Cyril Binette, Danny Gleason, and Claude Regimbald.

Pall-bearers were; Mr. Noel Tieltie, Henry Montpetit, Ben St. Martin, Richard Hunting, Dixon Keane and Reel Auger.

Mrs. Caouette nee (Marguerite Poirier) was born April 18, 1888 at Mount Carmel Prince Edward Island. She attended school there and graduated with honors from Prince of Wales University at the age of 16. She was employed for six years as principal of the three-room school she had attended.

Along with four other PEI teachers she came to Alberta in 1911. Her first western position was in the Springfield district, northwest of Legal, where she had pupils ranging from six to 23 years. In 1912 she came to teach in the Legal one-room school where she had 52 pupils in grades (1-1X).

On July 8, 1913 she married Edward Sigouin. Three children were born from this union; Louis, Edward and Raoul. Mr. Sigouin died in 1918. She married Mr. Joseph Caouette in the spring of 1919. They were blessed with three children; Gerard, Germaine and Alphonse.

MRS. M. CAOINETTE

Mrs. Caouette always enjoyed teaching, which gave her a feeling of achievement and a sense of contributing to the community. She loved working with children and friendships with fellow teachers were very dear to her. She loved music, knitting, fancy work and card playing.

After her family had grown Mrs. Caouette decided to go back to the teaching profession. From 1932-1958 she taught in Vimy; and from 1958 - 1965 in Legal. In June of that year she retired from the staff - but being too "young at heart" and a "born teacher" she made up her mind to continue her career. So, with great zest she taught again in the fall of 1966. She was teaching grade 3 until Jan. 16, 1970. Her health was failing and she had to be hospitalized from then until her death. Formerly she stayed with her daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Louis Proulx in Morinville.

Mrs. Caouette was a devoted mother, devout Catholic; a member of the Christian Ladies, and dedicated, conscientious teacher.

In the classroom she had a business-like manner, was very patient, and a good disciplinarian. With her devotion and sense of humor she won the hearts of all her pupils. She found teaching challenging and was greatly interested in the progress of children. With parents she was frank and sincere. Mrs. Caouette kept well informed on changing methods of education and truly enjoyed "The New Math."

It wasn't unusual for a child to say, "Mrs. Caouette taught my grandmother, a long time ago," - and true it was. Her stately walk for a woman of 82 was remarkable - and often envied by younger persons.

She will be sadly missed but ever remembered by her family, her friends and in a very special way by all who had the privilege of having her as a teacher.

She leaves to mourn her loss five sons and one daughter; Louis Sigouin, Vancouver; Edward Sigouin, Port Hammond; Ralph Sigouin, Picardville; Gerard Caouette, Athabasca; Alphonse Caouette, RCAF Medley and Mrs. L. (Germaine) Proulx Morinville; also 29 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Aromatic eye-opener!

One of life's simple joys! Sizzling rashers of bacon to start your day with a smile! You probably don't think too much about what goes on behind the bacon on your plate; about selective breeding of hogs; the care - and cost - of feeding, transportation, marketing, processing and distribution. But "bringing home the bacon" is a lengthy and complex business. So is bringing home to you another of life's everyday benefits - electricity. Harnessing this "natural" energy for your home involves specialized skills, equipment, labor, research and development. While the overall cost of living has risen dramatically the price of electricity is still one of today's best bargains. Did you realize that the power used on a farm is, on average, less than one per cent of the total operating costs? That's something to think about when you consider inflation - or enjoy the tantalizing aroma of bacon frying!

WESTMOUNT 111th AVE & GROAT

The boutique where clothes grow on trees

Boutique-operator Don Cressey discusses new merchandise with Miss Angie Pelletier. Fashions in his exclusive Westmount shop are designed for the 15 to 25-year old.

By Lois Bridges

One look at the outside and you know this place is going to be different. The ceramic figure of a woman flanking the doorway and the carved wood sign proclaiming "Tree Boutique and LaBelle Salon" invite a further look. Inside, provocative fashions, obviously aimed at the young and with-it market, hang from branches of real trees, apparently growing out of the wide-plank floor. Rough pine logs lashed with ropes form an interesting ceiling which only awaits a draping of finisnet to complete it. Old-fashioned lamps with burnished hoods are suspended on chains and antique chests display all the brilliant treasures coveted by the young female shopper in the 15 to 25-year-old category.

A swath of burlap covers a corner which turns out to be a fitting room. A second fitting room with its half-moon door and unmistakable

"two-holer" appearance is in the process of completion. (The holes will display jewelry.)

All in all, it's a pretty wild place. And who's the young swinger who runs it? He may come as a bit of a surprise. Silver-haired and properly goateed, Don Cressey proprietor of this unique establishment in Westmount Shoppers Park is a retired contractor who, up until recently, dealt in the much more prosaic world of concrete products.

But now he's retired and all that's changed. Not only is he enjoying life in the heady world of mod fashion, but almost single-handedly he's creating an imaginative setting worthy of the products he displays. "I've done about 98 per cent of the work myself," he says. "It's only been costly in terms of my own time." He's been working on the boutique for about three months.

Old window frames minus their small square panes of glass are set in a rough log siding wall which forms an eye-catching backdrop for fringed and embroidered suede vests, soft pigskin and fur drawing bags, wetlook pantsuits, wigs, bright braided belts, floppy hats and all the other paraphernalia that spells fun and fashion for the young crowd. Puge barrels cut away and fitted with desk surfaces form a semi-circle at the door and replace the customary store counter.

The Boutique

graced someone's parlor or dining room, come from various sources — one from the home of Mr. Cressey's daughter, Mrs. George McLaughlin of St. Albert.

Where do the ideas come from?

According to Mr. Cressey, who's had no formal training in interior decorating, it's just a question of "meeting a need."

"I never know when I start a project, how it's going to end."

Mr. Cressey points to an octagonal entranceway to a waiting room in the beauty salon. "This was an ordinary door, so I just decided to do this with it."

His own private office at the rear of the shop, which also doubles as a wig-fitting room, is covered in a rich blue-black velvet-type wallpaper. A sheer canopy conceals a high and ugly ceiling. Heavy black barn-door hinges and iron strapping give impressive detail to an ordinary cupboard door.

"If I'd had an interior decorator in to do the job, he'd have worked on one theme from front to back," he said. "I like each room decorated for the occasion. 'Tourists think it's wonderful. I've had a lot of offers to go out and do homes. It's fun to do it for myself, but if I had to decorate for a living, then it would be work.'"

Renovations in the boutique part of his establishment have left the beauty salon with an unfinished wall and Mr. Cressey's imagination is already at work on plans to remedy this.

He hopes to make the space available to the high schools in the area. Each school will be invited to have its young artists contribute a mural and there'll be a cash prize for the work that's judged best by a qualified judge.

It's quite a transition from the contracting business to the boutique and beauty salon combination that now occupies Mr. Cressey's time.

After retirement, the beauty salon was just one of the investments that he made. He'd travelled extensively around the world, spending time in such exotic places as New Guinea, Tahiti, Hawaii, Fiji and Bora Bora before he "got tired of being lazy" and decided to come in and manage the shop.

"Beauty salon business is down all over," he said. Reasons for this are that 51 per cent of the population is under 25 — they go for simple hairdos which don't require hairdressers — and the boom in wig sales.

"As many as 100,000 wigs are being sold in Edmonton alone," he added. "So the boutique is another way to find revenue."

Catering to high school, university and young career girls, the shop is frankly not wooing the suburban matron. The clothes, somewhat higher priced than in department stores, but also more exclusive due to the small number of each style ordered, are geared for a certain type of figure, Mr. Cressey said.

"We won't sell a dress to a woman who can't wear it." Most clothes are Canadian-made and some of the accessories are made locally.

Situated between two of the city's largest high schools, Mr. Cressey estimates there are at least 3,000 potential customers for the boutique close at hand. He considers these young shoppers extremely sensible.

"Young girls never buy on first impulse. They usually bring somebody else with them."

"Kids say this is their store," says Mr. Cressey who has been operating the boutique for the past two months. "They've never given me one bit of trouble. There's been no pilfering at all. They all act like young ladies."

A few items come in every day so there's always something new and interesting to see, and often the kids just come in to pat Caesar, Mr. Cressey's perky little poodle, part-poodle who's been "part of the business" for the past four years.

With decoration of the boutique nearing completion, what now? This doesn't appear to be a problem for Mr. Cressey.

"We're also in the wholesale fashion business, supplying five boutiques and we hope to have 10 outlets before too long," he said.

It's not difficult to see why a life of retirement in tropical paradises soon began to pall on this energetic man.

"Life was too perfect, too easy," he said. "Six weeks of that would be enough for anyone from this part of the world. Besides, after travelling all over, I think I live in the most beautiful spot in the world. Of all the scenery I saw on the islands, I think I've never seen anything to beat the trip between Jasper and Banff."

YOUNG BULLS PREFERRED—Any drop in the price of beef in the near future is likely to be accompanied by a kicker; much of the product will come from young bulls rather than from previously preferred steers and heifers.

The reason is that stockmen across Canada are convinced, on the strength of studies conducted at the federal Livestock Research Station at Lethbridge, that young bulls are prodigious converters, averaging a pound of meat for every 5.7 pounds of feed. The studies also prove that young bull beef needn't dress out a darker color than heifer or steer carcasses if heifers are properly handled, and that despite more rapid growth, young bull beef is no fatter than steer or heifer flesh. One secret is a good, clean sex life.

RECREATION Hi-Lites

SWIMMING

The last session of lessons for this year started on Aug. 17 and are being well attended despite the colder weather. The response to instruction at the pool this year has been exceptionally high. Diving has been unusually popular and this is largely due to instruction of a high calibre from John Edwards, a member of the University of Alberta diving team.

Swimmers are reminded that even if the temperature is low the water in the pool is comfortably warm. SWIM CLUB

The St. Albert Swim team will be competing in the Central Regional "B" Swim Meet which will be held at the university pool on Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 22 and 23. Up to 17 teams are expected to take part.

Last year St. Albert won this two-day event and brought home the trophy which was donated by the Town of St. Albert.

So far this year, the local team has done extremely well and great things are expected from the members next weekend although they will be up against some tough competition. They will be defending their position at the top of the central "league" and everyone is invited to come and cheer them on to yet another victory.

The long distance events and heats will be run on Saturday morning and again in the evening from 5 p.m. The finals will take place on Sunday from 8 a.m. to 12 noon. The top swimmers will go on to participate in the Provincial "B" finals which will be held on the following weekend in Calgary.

SWIMMATION
The swimathon undertaken and organized by the Swim Club last Saturday morning was very successful, with almost 40 members taking part. Greg Styles was the top "scorer." He swam 190 lengths in the one and one-half hours allowed, no mean feat considering the fact that 64 lengths equals one mile.

Other results will be published when available.

TENNIS

In the semi-finals of the inter-club tournament, St. Albert tied with Garneau, 3-3. However, when all the games won or lost were totaled, the local team were unfortunately the losers by a score of 42-35.

The team representing St. Albert were Dave Kirk, Clark Warren, Fred Rudolph, Ann Kirk, Judy Wood, Angela Sonntag and Robin Hitchon. Although another team won, these players are to be congratulated on a fine showing.

Ladies Fastball

St. Albert Silhouettes second place finishers in the Edmonton Ladies Fastball League will play St. Albert Debs who finished in third place, tonight in the semi-finals.

Winners of this best of three series will go against Rosslyn for the second division crown.

Saints take B honours at Leduc

Richie Perrault was credited with both wins as St. Albert Willowbrook Saints captured 'B' event in the six-team double knockout Black Gold Days Tournament in Leduc during the past weekend.

Burns Shamrocks, last years Western Canadian champions downed St. Albert 9 - 0 in the opening game which saw Saints lose it on errors. Dennis Fitzgerald was the winning pitcher and Fred Resler took the loss.

The Saints remained alive in the tournament with a 6-2 win over Calmar Angels who were eliminated as they lost their opening game 8-0 to the Wellier-William Colts of the Sunburst League.

Richie Perrault went all the way for the win and also hit a two-run scoring double in the fifth inning to give the Saints a 6-2 win. In the B-section final Saints really turned loose the timber as they came up with a 22 - 9 win over the Devon Kings, who also play in the Sunburst League. The game was a seesaw affair with fifth on nine hits.

Ed Howorko and Larry Mitchell hit home runs for the winners.

Leduc won the 'A' event with a 22 - 5 win over Burns Shamrocks.

The Saints will travel to Devon tonight for an exhibition game as they are now awaiting a winner between Calmar Angels and Hobbe-ma in the semi-finals of the Oilfield Baseball League.

St. Albert won the east division with nine wins and only two losses.

Fastball finals

The best of three finals of the Sturgeon Fastball League between Stony Plain and Spruce Grove are all tied up with each club having a win.

Finals will be this week. Coach Fermin Iseke of the Drive-In states the league will have an all-star team made up from the other clubs to take on the champs in an effort to raise some money so that qualified umpires can be obtained for next year.
